

Southern California Edison (Email)

Hello;

Thank you very much for today's webinar. Per my comment during the session; SCE has developed a tool called Engage which in essence is a slimmed-down version of eQuest which leverages building prototypes based upon DEER. We use this tool in support of our Energy Efficiency Programs. We are also nearing the release of a web-based version of this tool, and when this occurs I can certainly let you know and you can review the tool.

Can you please send me a copy of today's presentation and/or a link to where it may be posted as well as add me to your notification list for future events? I would like to say apprised of the pilot project.

Thank you.

Regards,
Matt Evans, PhD
Energy Engineering
Customer Energy Efficiency & Solar
Southern California Edison